

Table with multiple columns containing data, likely a financial or operational record. The table spans the width of the page and contains many rows and columns of data points.

